Degrees that Make a Difference

Find out how a master’s degree in public management can make a difference in your life and the lives of others.

“I had a tremendous amount of support from faculty members. The experiences in the classroom really expanded my knowledge on healthcare and public management issues. The diversity of students provided great discussions and real-world knowledge. I was also able to apply course material in a real-world environment through an internship, which helped me build important contacts within the community.”

—Surinder Kaur, Graduate Student
