The 2014-15 academic year has been one with noteworthy activity and accomplishment for our department. Twenty-four seniors finished their CSD degrees this year, nine graduating in the fall semester, thirteen in spring and two in summer. Five of our students graduated with distinction and two graduated with highest distinction, our best performance ever, I believe. We ‘crushed it’ as the kids say. Fourteen of this year’s graduates have been accepted into master’s degree or doctoral program in the fall, another record performance by our students. Details follow.

The generosity of our scholarship donors, the Balentine Foundation, the Downtown Sertoma Club, ASAP, and the Lucille J. Hess Endowment have made it possible for us to award significant tuition assistance to seven of our students for next year. Having these resources to make awards to our top students continues to set CSD apart from many other departments at IPFW. The awardees are listed below.

This has also been another productive year for student and faculty research. Taylor Goodpaster and Lindsey Rife both presented posters at the Undergraduate Research Symposium in March and Taylor also presented her work in a lecture at the Honors Showcase in April. Their research is described below. Two former honors students, Tanya August and Teresa Barcenas were co-authors of an invited paper titled Identification and response latencies of Mandarin-accented isolated words in quiet and in noise which I presented at the fall meeting of the Acoustical Society of America in Indianapolis. Professor Pam Reese authored one presentation for the ASHA convention in Orlando last fall, Mutuality as a supervision tool for struggling CSD graduate students and coauthored another, Enhancing graduate students’ clinical-classroom connections in working with children with autism. She also had a paper published in the ASHA journal Perspectives on Administration and Supervision titled An Investigation into supervision techniques to support shy CSD students published in June. Sharon Mankey and Mariesa Rang presented the survey they conducted at the first annual AAC World event at ASHA as well. Their title was 911, What is your emergency? Perceptions of community and emergency response members to AAC.

The two student clubs the department sponsors have had an exceptionally busy and successful year. Details are presented below. Three cheers for the officers and members of the Speech and Hearing Club and the ASL Pah Club for their outstanding work.

Graduates 2014 - 15

Twenty-three students graduated with Communication Sciences and Disorders BS degrees this academic year. The graduates are Sarah Anger, Holly Carter, Alicia Castro, Kayla Dammeyer, Breann Felten, Anna Fisher, Elizabeth Flores, Taylor Goodpaster, Meredith Holt, Elizabeth Huber, Sadie King-Hoffmann (with Distinction), Hillary Moore, Kathryn Mossburg, Ken Njenga, Lindsey Rife (with Distinction), Cherie Roebuck (with Highest Distinction), Haley Seibert (with Highest Distinction), Molly Seilheimer (with Distinction), Kelsey Suciu (with Distinction), Shelby Vaughn, Han Vergon, Kyla Warnsley, Kendall Wienkes (with Distinction), and Jodie Zehner. Two graduates, Taylor Goodpaster and Sadie King-Hoffmann earned honors certificates. Congratulations to these students as they move forward in life and in their careers.

Fourteen of this year’s graduates will be pursuing graduate degrees in the fall (a record), ten students in speech-language pathology programs, three in doctoral programs in audiology and one in an MS program in library and information science.

Graduates entering master’s degree programs in speech-language pathology in the fall are: Kayla Dammeyer at Marshall University in Huntington, West Virginia, Anna Fisher at the University of New Mexico Albuquerque, Taylor Goodpaster at Purdue West Lafayette, Elizabeth Huber at New Hampshire, Hillary Moore at Western Illinois, Kathryn Mossburg at Indiana Bloomington, Haley Seibert at Bowling Green State, Molly Seilheimer at Indiana Bloomington, Kendall Wienkes at Wisconsin Milwaukee. Jodie Zehner, who graduated in December, 2014 has already finished her first year in the on-line SLP program at the University of Cincinnati.

The three graduates who will be entering AuD programs in the fall are: Ken Njenga at Ball State University, Lindsey Rife at Purdue, and Han Vergon at Central Michigan. In addition, Sadie King-Hoffmann will be studying for her MS in Library and Information Science at Simmons College in Boston. We wish all of you continued academic and professional success.

CSD Scholarships and Awards 2015

Ten outstanding CSD students were recognized with awards for their achievements at the 2015 College of Arts and Sciences Honors Banquet on April 23.

Graduating senior Lindsey Rife was named Outstanding CSD Major for 2015. The award acknowledges Lindsey’s high standards of academic performance combined with her impressive record of research, leadership, and service. We are happy to be able to say that, as always, the competition for this award among our graduating seniors was keen. Lindsey received a cash award from the department.

Graduating Seniors Elizabeth Huber and Molly Seilheimer were both honored as this year’s Outstanding Gerontology Students.

Caitlin Funnell and Madelyn Werling, both seniors next year, are co-recipients of the Anne M. Balentine Scholarship. This generous scholarship is funded by the Conrad Balentine family of Bluffton, IN in honor of their daughter and sister, Anne, who was deaf, blind and physically challenged. Both Caitlin and Madelyn have outstanding academic records and both are interested in professional careers that will aid people with multiple disabilities.

Senior Jessi Rex and junior Heather Lester were co-recipients of the Downtown Sertoma William Doctor/Charles M. Henry, Jr. Scholarship for their continuous records of notable academic achievement. William Doctor was a founding member of this Fort Wayne service club and Charles M. Henry, Jr. was a long-time officer and donor.

Seniors Melanie Dietrich and Katelyn Simmons shared the fourth annual ASAP scholarship. ASAP (After Sorority, All Philanthropic) was a chapter of Psi Iota Xi until they broke away from national affiliation three years ago.

Allison LaBorde is the recipient of the second year of the Lucille J. Hess Endowed Scholarship in Communication Sciences and Disorders. The award provides tuition reduction for a junior or senior CSD major with an outstanding record of academic achievement. Professor Emerita Hess was a member of our faculty for over 40 years and chaired the department from 2001 to 2011. We are pleased to have this generous new source of financial assistance for our top students.

All of these fine students have their names engraved on the appropriate plaques that hang in the CSD office in Neff Hall.

CSD Scholarships and Awards 2015

Ten outstanding CSD students were recognized with awards for their achievements at the 2015 College of Arts and Sciences Honors Banquet on April 23.

Graduating senior Lindsey Rife was named Outstanding CSD Major for 2015. The award acknowledges Lindsey’s high standards of academic performance combined with her impressive record of research, leadership, and service. We are happy to be able to say that, as always, the competition for this award among our graduating seniors was keen. Lindsey received a cash award from the department.

Graduating Seniors Elizabeth Huber and Molly Seilheimer were both honored as this year’s Outstanding Gerontology Students.

Caitlin Funnell and Madelyn Werling, both seniors next year, are co-recipients of the Anne M. Balentine Scholarship. This generous scholarship is funded by the Conrad Balentine family of Bluffton, IN in honor of their daughter and sister, Anne, who was deaf, blind and physically challenged. Both Caitlin and Madelyn have outstanding academic records and both are interested in professional careers that will aid people with multiple disabilities.

Senior Jessi Rex and junior Heather Lester were co-recipients of the Downtown Sertoma William Doctor/Charles M. Henry, Jr. Scholarship for their continuous records of notable academic achievement. William Doctor was a founding member of this Fort Wayne service club and Charles M. Henry, Jr. was a long-time officer and donor.

Seniors Melanie Dietrich and Katelyn Simmons shared the fourth annual ASAP scholarship. ASAP (After Sorority, All Philanthropic) was a chapter of Psi Iota Xi until they broke away from national affiliation three years ago.

Allison LaBorde is the recipient of the second year of the Lucille J. Hess Endowed Scholarship in Communication Sciences and Disorders. The award provides tuition reduction for a junior or senior CSD major with an outstanding record of academic achievement. Professor Emerita Hess was a member of our faculty for over 40 years and chaired the department from 2001 to 2011. We are pleased to have this generous new source of financial assistance for our top students.

All of these fine students have their names engraved on the appropriate plaques that hang in the CSD office in Neff Hall.

CSD Scholarships and Awards 2015

Ten outstanding CSD students were recognized with awards for their achievements at the 2015 College of Arts and Sciences Honors Banquet on April 23.

Graduating senior Lindsey Rife was named Outstanding CSD Major for 2015. The award acknowledges Lindsey’s high standards of academic performance combined with her impressive record of research, leadership, and service. We are happy to be able to say that, as always, the competition for this award among our graduating seniors was keen. Lindsey received a cash award from the department.

Graduating Seniors Elizabeth Huber and Molly Seilheimer were both honored as this year’s Outstanding Gerontology Students.

Caitlin Funnell and Madelyn Werling, both seniors next year, are co-recipients of the Anne M. Balentine Scholarship. This generous scholarship is funded by the Conrad Balentine family of Bluffton, IN in honor of their daughter and sister, Anne, who was deaf, blind and physically challenged. Both Caitlin and Madelyn have outstanding academic records and both are interested in professional careers that will aid people with multiple disabilities.

Senior Jessi Rex and junior Heather Lester were co-recipients of the Downtown Sertoma William Doctor/Charles M. Henry, Jr. Scholarship for their continuous records of notable academic achievement. William Doctor was a founding member of this Fort Wayne service club and Charles M. Henry, Jr. was a long-time officer and donor.

Seniors Melanie Dietrich and Katelyn Simmons shared the fourth annual ASAP scholarship. ASAP (After Sorority, All Philanthropic) was a chapter of Psi Iota Xi until they broke away from national affiliation three years ago.

Allison LaBorde is the recipient of the second year of the Lucille J. Hess Endowed Scholarship in Communication Sciences and Disorders. The award provides tuition reduction for a junior or senior CSD major with an outstanding record of academic achievement. Professor Emerita Hess was a member of our faculty for over 40 years and chaired the department from 2001 to 2011. We are pleased to have this generous new source of financial assistance for our top students.

All of these fine students have their names engraved on the appropriate plaques that hang in the CSD office in Neff Hall.

CSD Scholarships and Awards 2015

Ten outstanding CSD students were recognized with awards for their achievements at the 2015 College of Arts and Sciences Honors Banquet on April 23.

Graduating senior Lindsey Rife was named Outstanding CSD Major for 2015. The award acknowledges Lindsey’s high standards of academic performance combined with her impressive record of research, leadership, and service. We are happy to be able to say that, as always, the competition for this award among our graduating seniors was keen. Lindsey received a cash award from the department.

Graduating Seniors Elizabeth Huber and Molly Seilheimer were both honored as this year’s Outstanding Gerontology Students.

Caitlin Funnell and Madelyn Werling, both seniors next year, are co-recipients of the Anne M. Balentine Scholarship. This generous scholarship is funded by the Conrad Balentine family of Bluffton, IN in honor of their daughter and sister, Anne, who was deaf, blind and physically challenged. Both Caitlin and Madelyn have outstanding academic records and both are interested in professional careers that will aid people with multiple disabilities.

Senior Jessi Rex and junior Heather Lester were co-recipients of the Downtown Sertoma William Doctor/Charles M. Henry, Jr. Scholarship for their continuous records of notable academic achievement. William Doctor was a founding member of this Fort Wayne service club and Charles M. Henry, Jr. was a long-time officer and donor.

Seniors Melanie Dietrich and Katelyn Simmons shared the fourth annual ASAP scholarship. ASAP (After Sorority, All Philanthropic) was a chapter of Psi Iota Xi until they broke away from national affiliation three years ago.

Allison LaBorde is the recipient of the second year of the Lucille J. Hess Endowed Scholarship in Communication Sciences and Disorders. The award provides tuition reduction for a junior or senior CSD major with an outstanding record of academic achievement. Professor Emerita Hess was a member of our faculty for over 40 years and chaired the department from 2001 to 2011. We are pleased to have this generous new source of financial assistance for our top students.

All of these fine students have their names engraved on the appropriate plaques that hang in the CSD office in Neff Hall.

CSD Scholarships and Awards 2015

Ten outstanding CSD students were recognized with awards for their achievements at the 2015 College of Arts and Sciences Honors Banquet on April 23.

Graduating senior Lindsey Rife was named Outstanding CSD Major for 2015. The award acknowledges Lindsey’s high standards of academic performance combined with her impressive record of research, leadership, and service. We are happy to be able to say that, as always, the competition for this award among our graduating seniors was keen. Lindsey received a cash award from the department.

Graduating Seniors Elizabeth Huber and Molly Seilheimer were both honored as this year’s Outstanding Gerontology Students.

Caitlin Funnell and Madelyn Werling, both seniors next year, are co-recipients of the Anne M. Balentine Scholarship. This generous scholarship is funded by the Conrad Balentine family of Bluffton, IN in honor of their daughter and sister, Anne, who was deaf, blind and physically challenged. Both Caitlin and Madelyn have outstanding academic records and both are interested in professional careers that will aid people with multiple disabilities.

Senior Jessi Rex and junior Heather Lester were co-recipients of the Downtown Sertoma William Doctor/Charles M. Henry, Jr. Scholarship for their continuous records of notable academic achievement. William Doctor was a founding member of this Fort Wayne service club and Charles M. Henry, Jr. was a long-time officer and donor.

Seniors Melanie Dietrich and Katelyn Simmons shared the fourth annual ASAP scholarship. ASAP (After Sorority, All Philanthropic) was a chapter of Psi Iota Xi until they broke away from national affiliation three years ago.

Allison LaBorde is the recipient of the second year of the Lucille J. Hess Endowed Scholarship in Communication Sciences and Disorders. The award provides tuition reduction for a junior or senior CSD major with an outstanding record of academic achievement. Professor Emerita Hess was a member of our faculty for over 40 years and chaired the department from 2001 to 2011. We are pleased to have this generous new source of financial assistance for our top students.

All of these fine students have their names engraved on the appropriate plaques that hang in the CSD office in Neff Hall.
has been working for the audiology group HearCare Connection in Fort Wayne for a year, completed a study of hearing screening pass/fail rates among 435 Head Start children in our area. She found a strong correlation between pass/fail rates and local population median income determined from US census data. While the correlation of healthcare outcomes and income level is well known, Lindsey’s finding for hearing health in our own community is an important one. She also presented the results of her study at the Student Research Symposium and won first-place honors from Sigma Xi for presentations in science and third-place for the symposium as a whole!

Reese Directs Second Successful Language and Literacy Camp

The second annual Language and Literacy Camp was held this summer at IPFW. The exciting news is that the camp grew to involve seven children from the Fort Wayne community and five CSD undergraduate students. Student participants were seniors Abigail Klima, Yari Pena, Trisha Seltzer, Katelyn Simmons, and Madelyn Werling. By participating in the concurrent seminar on language and literacy the students earned three credits toward graduation along with the valuable clinical experience they gained.

Classroom lectures and discussion focused on evidence for meaning-based literacy acquisition and strategies for involving children in shared- and guided-reading and writing sessions. Techniques for the effective management of cooperative learning groups for young readers were also discussed. Students then transferred these strategies to the clinic in practice with the children they were assigned to help.

Dr. Reese also demonstrated the usefulness of reading aloud to groups of children followed by guided discussion of the material presented. She used some favorite children’s picture books and sometimes short chapters of classic adult fiction. For example, the beginning pages of Tony Hillerman’s The Listening Woman illustrated how well-crafted literary suspense can focus the listener’s attention on a dramatic situation. A short clip from Ken Burns’ Civil War documentary of the reading of a love letter from a soldier to his wife, provided a lesson in how the deepest of human emotions can be expressed through written words.

Literacy learning activities during clinic included being read to in a large group, individual reading sessions with tutors, cooperative small group learning activities, individual silent reading sessions, and workshops for writing. The theme for some the activities this year was animals. Each week activities focused on a different group of animals—farm animals, reptiles, sea creatures, insects, etc. Even ‘field trips’ such as a visit to the Kona Ice Truck parked outside Neff Hall, which became a writing project as the children were supervised in writing thank-you notes to the owners who donated the treats.

During the final week of clinic, parents were invited to attend and observe their child during a shared reading session. A pizza party was held on the final day.

As a final activity the CSD student mentors wrote letters to mail to their child’s parents which included the list of the books the child had read as well as descriptions of the learning strategies that helped their child improve his or her literacy skills. It is hoped these letters will encourage parents to continue as mentors to their children. To cap off the experience, samples of the children’s writing, with photos from the camp were compiled into a book sent to the families at the conclusion of camp activities.

Reese plans to offer the Language and Literacy Camp again next summer. She says, “It’s too much fun to stop.” The camp also supports her research into clinical supervision and undergraduate student acquisition of new ideas.

Musser Takes CSD Online

Dr. Joy Musser began teaching a section of our Introduction to Communication Disorders class online in the fall of 2013. The section has proved to be very popular with students, and has been enrolled to capacity every semester since then. Last summer Musser developed an online version of our anatomy and physiology course (CSD 30400) using online instructional techniques she has been perfecting for several years and also incorporating terrific anatomical graphics she located from publisher Primal Pictures (visit them for a demo!). Students enrolled in the course for fall and spring semesters are finding that Musser’s online courses create an effective and enjoyable learning environment for this material. Both courses will be offered online again in the coming year.
From the IPFW Communication Disorders Clinic

Clinic Director Sharon Mankey reports that fourteen students participated in clinic in the spring semester. Clients were preschoolers, elementary through high-school students and five senior citizens. The five student clinicians working with the seniors earned gerontology certificates. In the course of the semester-long session, all of the self-selected goals of the student clinicians were met and client satisfaction with the therapy sessions was very high as well. Student clinicians were Breann Felten, Anna Fisher, Taylor Goodpaster, Elizabeth Huber, Hillary Moore, Kathryn Mossburg, Ken Njenga, Han Vergon, and Chelsea Weiss. Other volunteers included Nan Rang, Casey Sowers, Jane Sowers, Daelin Clark, and Shannon Clark. Approximately 30 people attended the event, including police officers, educational professionals, and family members of individuals who rely on AAC for communication. The event was organized by Mariesa Rang and Sharon Mankey. The third annual AAC World event is being planned for March 24, 2016.

IPFW Poss-Abilities AAC Theatre Camp

The 6th annual IPFW AAC Poss-Abilities Theatre Camp was held over the weekend of fall break, October 10 - 12. It featured young people who use AAC to communicate in the stage adaptation of James and the Giant Peach. The campers, who came from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin, participated in rehearsals all weekend before presenting the play to an appreciative audience of parents, community members, and IPFW students and faculty. The AAC Camp counselors, Alicia Castro, Kayla Dammeyer, Breann Felten, Taylor Goodpaster, Elizabeth (Huber) Cindrich, Kathryn Mossburg, Ken Njenga, Molly Seileimer, and Shelby Vaughn had to stretch their imaginations in order to construct a giant peach out of PVC pipe and chicken wire. The actors, students, and volunteers had to adjust their plans (and some had to step out of their comfort zones!) when two campers were unable to come to camp at the last minute. It all came together by Sunday evening and the audience enjoyed a great performance. The next camp is again scheduled for the fall-break weekend, October 9-11 with the performance on Sunday at 5 PM in Neff 101. The public is invited to this free event. If you would like to volunteer for the weekend and/or for AAC World to be held next spring, please contact Sharon Mankey (eglys@ipfw.edu) as soon as possible.

Second Annual AAC World Workshop

On Saturday, October 25th, CSD students participated in the second annual AAC World event for the Fort Wayne community. This event aims to raise public awareness of people living with severe oral communication disabilities and to provide some hands-on experiences with various forms of augmentative/alternative communication (AAC) to those unfamiliar with them. The CSD students were joined by SLPs from the Fort Wayne community, including Amanda Gossett and CSD alums Jenna Rode, Julia Lambright, Lisa Sproat, Jade Thwaites, Beth Krill, Melissa Helm and developmental therapist, Helen Laverghetta. Professor Pam Britton Reese and Professor Emerita Lucy Hess also volunteered for the event.

Speech and Hearing Club

Under the leadership of this year’s president Breann Felten, vice president Stephanie Swope, secretary Madison Goodwin, treasurer Lindsey Rife, historian Han Vergon, and publicists Haley Seibert and Chelsea Weiss, the IPFW Speech and Hearing Club sponsored an impressive number of service and social activities during the year. These included a bowling-night social in the fall, Sensitive Santa and Sensitive Easter Bunny events for Turnstone clients and the Make-It-Take-It therapy materials event. Fund-raisers at two local restaurants, sales of tee shirts and fleeces, and candy sales netted more than $1,000.00 which was distributed to support causes such as Turnstone, AAC Camp, AAC World, and Camp Red Cedar. Kudos to officers and member for these collective accomplishments.

Officers for next year will be Stephanie Swope, president, Maddi Goodwin, vice president, and Katelyn Simmons, secretary.

ASL Pah Club and Sign Choir

Though membership in the ASL Pah Club is typically smaller than that of the SHC, this year’s officers and members also had a busy and successful year. President Han Vergon, vice president Lindsey Rife, secretary Madison Goodwin, treasurer Bailey Cahill, historian Ken Njenga and publicist Kayla Dammeyer report an impressive list of accomplishments for the year.

Club members participated in IPFW Freshman Fest, NIDAC Deaf Festival, the HearCare Wine and Stein fundraiser, a black-light yoga fundraiser, NIDAC Deaf Santa, a fundraiser at Applebee’s and Deaf, Deaf World.

Proceeds from fund-raisers were donated to DeafLink, NIDAC, and HearCare Connection.

The ASL Sign Choir gave performances at Deaf Santa, Deaf, Deaf World and the university’s 2015 commencement exercises. Sign Choir members were; Han Vergon, Lindsey Rife, Caitlin Aschelman, Ken Njenga, Elizabeth Flores, Therese Blevins, Logan Weimer, Alex Grate, Melanie Dietrich, Breann Felten, Katelyn Simmons, Molly Seilheimer, Taylor Goodpaster, Alicia Castro, and Elizabeth Huber.

Next year’s club officers will be Katelyn Simmons, president, Trisha Smeltzer, vice president, Abi Klima, treasurer, Maddi Goodwin, secretary.

ALUMNI NEWS

Stephanie Adams (Trent), 1990
I currently work as an adjunct professor of psychology for Ivy Tech Community College. I work as an on-line professor for the Tippecanoe School Corporation teaching students in dual-credit courses. I am entertaining the idea of writing a book on hearing loss and trauma recovery.

My oldest son will graduate from Harrison High School and my youngest will enter high school this year.

Heather Allen, 1996
MA-CCC-SLP, FWCS. Professional interest, autism, articulation, fluency

Karissa Allen (Mills), 2013
I am currently working towards my masters online through the University of Cincinnati. I will graduate in August 2016.

My husband and I got married October 2013. We just had our first son on February 27th. His name is Chandler Rowen.

Amy Bassett (Shively), 2013
Amy is employed at the Fort Wayne Autism Center and working on her master’s in speech-language pathology through Nova Southeastern.

She was married in October 2014!

Rosanna Boardman (Schenkel) 2006
I continue to work for Crane School District in Yuma, AZ. I assist with supervision of an SLPA and help to train new SLPs. I works with K-6 grade students as well as several self-contained classrooms with autistic students. I continue to work PRN for the Yuma Rehabilitation Hospital.

Oh yes! In 2011 I married Curtis Boardman. We have three boys, Chris (age 12), James (age 2), and Daniel (2 months). Side note: James’ articulation is almost perfect (aside from a silly developmental frontal lisp), and his conversations are like those of a five year old! Preschool here he comes!

Joelle Bobay, 2013
Special education teacher currently at St. Vincent de Paul and will have her master’s in January 2016.

Jenni Csenar, (Schuldt) 2008
Birth of first child, a daughter, on January 6, 2015. Lila Mae Csenar.

Kayla Dammeyer, 2014
I have been employed through Fort Wayne Community Schools at Lakeside Middle School since January, 2015. I work as a 1:1 teaching assistant for a student with Autism Spectrum Disorder. I have accepted an offer of admission to Marshall University in West Virginia to their Graduate program in Communication Disorders. I will be moving to West Virginia in August 2015 to complete my Master’s degree in Speech-Language Pathology!

Destiny Erhardt (Torres), 2013
I will finally graduate this summer with my Master’s degree in Applied Behavior Analysis with a certificate in Autism. I am currently working as a substitute teacher for Fort Wayne Community Schools and a Direct Support Professional to people with disabilities at Easter Seals Arc in a group home. I love being a substitute teacher, especially in the special education environment where I get to work with many therapists!

In April, I will be married two years! My daughter will be two in September and is growing and thriving! My son is turning 17 and is currently working at a horse ranch as well as volunteering at the Allen County SPCA. He graduates high school next year!
Anne Ericson (Ufheil), 1997
Employed at Amedisys Home Health Care.

Jayme Fennell (Allen), 2014
Professional Update: I am currently working for Lakeland School Corp. in LaGrange, IN as a SLP-A. I just recently went to Indy for PECS training.

Personal Update: I got married in June 2014. :)

Alicia Frick (Bigelow), 2013
Currently working as an ABA Therapist at Fort Wayne Autism Center. Starting graduate school at Ball State University in May for the Masters of Arts in Applied Behavior Analysis with an Emphasis in Autism program.

Married James Frick in May 2013.

Allie Fries, 2014
Completed prerequisite classes for graduate program beginning Fall 2015 through Nova Southeastern University (online). Wish me luck! Working as an SLPA and ABA therapist at Hopebridge Pediatric Specialists.

I got married this past September to my high school sweet heart, Ben Fries and spent the following week in Jamaica! It was the best experience of my life! I am currently saving up to attend ‘yoga school’ to become a certified instructor.

Melissa Fuller, 2009
Currently in my last year of graduate school at the University of Cincinnati. Working an SLPA for Dekalb Eastern School Corp and love it!

Married to my husband of seven years, enjoy watching my 4-year old daughter grow up! Attaining more land and getting more involved in farming which is a great blessing!

Holly Gayheart, 2012
Graduated from Bowling Green State University with a Master’s of Science in Interdisciplinary Gerontology in only 50 weeks while maintaining a 3.909 GPA!

Chelsey Hazelett, 2013
Graduate from East Tennessee State University in May 2015, with honors. Presented a poster at the 2014 ASHA convention in Orlando. Currently interested in the geriatric population and searching for a job in the hospital or skilled nursing facility.

Engaged in December 2013 and getting married in August 2015.

Melissa Heim, 2012
Professional Update: I’m working as an SLPA for Hopebridge Pediatric Specialists; however, I was contracted with Bon Air Elementary School in Kokomo for the 2014-2015 school year. I’ll be celebrating 3 years with the company in June. In August, I’ll be entering my final year of graduate school with the University of Cincinnati (distance learning program)! Also, I’ll be doing part of my medical practicum this summer! As I’m doing more courses, my interests are both expanding and narrowing. I am mostly interested in adult disorders: aphasia, dysarthria, and dysphagia. I do enjoy speech and language disorders too.

Personal Update: I am engaged to my long-time boyfriend, Dale. The prospective date may be in September 2016. In my free time, I like to spend time with Dale, and my dog Charlie.

Molly Hinderman, 2014
I am currently attending the University of Louisville working on my master’s in Speech-Language Pathology!

Meredith Holt, 2014
I am currently employed with Marion Community Schools as an SLPA working with preschool and elementary aged students. I am engaged to Robert Howell and we plan to marry on June 13, 2015.

Carley Hower, (McCullough) 2007
I am working for Adams Health Network and enjoy working with geriatric patients.

My husband and I stay busy chasing our two year old daughter, Annabelle, and our four year old son, Moses. We enjoy bicycling and spending time outdoors.

Bev Huneck Transferred to University of Kansas in 1995

I have worked in MSD Washington Township since moving to Indianapolis in 2003. I serve an elementary school, as well as conduct all screens and evaluations in the non-public schools within the district, who seek our services. I am a huge advocate for public schools in Indiana, serving as my school’s union representative. I also volunteered for former co-worker, Glenda Ritz’s campaign, when she ran for Indiana’s Superintendent of Public Instruction.

My daughter, Morgan, is 24 and works in downtown Chicago as a graphic production artist at a publishing company.

Rita Jakubowicz, 2013
Graduated with Master’s degree from Western Michigan University in May. Accepted a CFY position in a skilled nursing facility in Indiana that will begin after graduation!

Can’t wait to marry my fiancé, Ryan, in October.

Kayleigh Krouse, 2012
A CSD graduate student at the University of Cincinnati. DT-C through First Steps of Indiana.

Birth of first child, a daughter, Charlotte, in October 2014.

Erica Lutz, 2014
Attending Indiana University, Bloomington to obtain a Speech Pathology Master’s degree.

Sharon Mankey, 1990
Mariesa Rang and I presented research at ASHA in November 2014 concerning the “AAC World” event they started in 2013. We are planning to move the event to the Spring of 2016.

I spent the past 18 months remodeling my house and yard on N. Anthony Blvd. Please stop by!

Carolyn Dianne McIntyre-Tincher, 1991
I am currently a contract speech pathologist under my business name: 3-D Speech Services, LLC.

After being widowed for seven years,
I remarried two years ago, hence, the name change. I now have the name Dianne McIntyre Tincher for business purposes. I’m still enjoying my Appalachian mountains in WV. I’ve been whitewater rafting, have a passion for zip lining, motorcycling and reading. Life is good and I’ve been blessed to enjoy my work and my family and friends.

Sondra McNall (Bollinger), 1985 (PU)
We moved to Fishers, IN in July of 2014 for my husband’s job after living in Ohio and Kentucky for the past 17 years. We are thrilled to be back in Indiana! I am currently taking care of our household and volunteering. Our son attends the University of Cincinnati and will be finishing his accounting degree in May of 2016. Our daughter has finished her freshman year at Indiana University and is deciding between physical therapy and nursing as her major.

Alicia Pe (Hart), 2006
I graduated Ball State with a MA in July 2008, CCC certified Working for Theracare since 2008 Married to Paul since September 2008; two daughters, Ava and Adia

Cara Pleiss-Abraham, 1998
Recently became certified in the Orton-Gillingham approach to be able to help dyslexic students through tutoring. Had a baby girl in December.

Kaelleigh Porter, 2014
After graduation, I accepted a position with First Steps, the early intervention program through the state. In two months I was promoted to the LPCC Coordinator (Local Planning and Coordinating Committee). I have also started a business with Mary Kay Cosmetics. I am an independent beauty consultant and am eager to see where this takes me!

I am recently engaged and have a date set for September 23, 2017. I plan to reapply to graduate school after I get married.

Jenna Rode, 2011
Still working at Renaissance Village Nursing Home. Focusing on the geriatric population, specifically regarding dysphagia, dementia, and CVA management.

Gave birth to a son, Weston James on January 13, 2015.

Jen Smith (Womack), 2012

Lisa Sproat, 2010
Signature Healthcare Fort Wayne – full time SLP and Divine Home Healthcare – SLP. My family has grown since graduation! I welcomed identical twin boys on November 23, 2013; Noah and Wyatt.

Denise Stoltzfus, 1999
I am working for HCA Largo Medical Center at the Indian Rocks campus. It is a rehabilitation hospital that also provides outpatient therapy services to the community.

Thomas Summerville, 2012 Assistant Director of Easter Seals Arc. MBA was completed in June 2015.

Stephanie Tippmann, 2014
I have not continued onto grad school currently, however I am thinking about doing an online program in the future. I had a baby boy on August 2, 2014, his name is Nicholas Jr. and he is currently 7 months old and such a joy! I am enjoying being a stay at home mom and spending time with my husband and friends. We added a German Shepherd to our household and her name is Echo. We recently took a family vacation to the Smokey Mountains and it was very fun!

Anita Tom, 1995
I am in my 17th year at Lutheran Hospital, working primarily in the areas of pediatric dysphagia and NICU. I’m also involved with the Kids First Cleft/ Craniofacial Clinic. I’m in my 8th semester teaching in the CSD Dept. at IPFW and loving it!

This is the first year that we have children in college, high school, middle school, and elementary school (our youngest, Kara, is a kindergartener). My classmates will remember Erik, he graduated from IPFW in May and is engaged to be married in September. My husband, Andy, and I met here at IPFW 25 years ago and are looking forward to our next 25!

Brandy Weaver, 2008
An audiologist working at Family Hearing Center in North Manchester, IN. I do everything there!

Delilah (6) will be in 1st grade in the fall and Daphne (3) will be starting preschool. I am not sure where time went, but they are making me old! Mark and I will be celebrating our nine year anniversary in September. We just built our own house this past fall and it is wonderful! I am hoping the next year will bring some new opportunities both Mark and my careers.

Pam Wilke, 2010
Completed master’s degree in 2014 and currently working for First Steps.

Moved back to Fort Wayne last August and bought a house!

Sarah Wolfe, 2011
Currently working at Mason Health Care in Warsaw, IN. I am interested in dysphagia treatment and dementia.

Married to Wes Wolfe and expecting our first baby in July, 2015. We are thrilled!

We would like to thank all of our wonderful alumni and friends who share of their time and talents to assist with the many events sponsored by Communication Sciences and Disorders.
We appreciate all of you!
CSD FACULTY, ALUMNI AND STUDENTS MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

UPCOMING AAC EVENTS

AAC POSS-ABILITIES THEATRE CAMP
OCTOBER 9-11

AAC WORLD EVENT
THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 6 - 8:00 PM

If you would like to volunteer for either or both of these events, please contact Sharon Mankey at eglis@ipfw.edu or Mariessa Rang at rangm01@ipfw.edu or call the main office at 260 481-6410.