By the Numbers...

JobZone Usage

Over the past two years, JobZone usage has significantly increased during the spring and fall semesters. This increased usage has been seen from both employer and student perspectives.

From the employer side, there has been a 47 percent increase in the number of job postings from spring 2012 to spring 2013 as well as a substantial increase in job postings from fall 2012 to fall 2013. Because the current fall semester is still in session, statistics for fall 2012 were only considered until this time last year. Compared to then, there has been a 33 percent increase in the number of job postings this fall.

From the student perspective, there has been a considerable increase in the number of résumés and applications sent over the past spring and fall semesters. From spring 2012 to spring 2013 there was a 7 percent increase in résumés submitted. Again, because the current fall semester is still in session, statistics for fall 2012 were only considered until this time last year. There has been a 20 percent increase this current fall semester compared to this time last year.

With so many new jobs being posted by employers and the increased number of résumés, JobZone is becoming a very effective means to recruitment for employers who are searching for high-quality candidates.

By the Numbers Special Edition: A recent By the Numbers review of IPFW has been completed. General information about IPFW, students, alumni, faculty, staff, tuition, gifts, budget, and athletics were included in the review. View the results.