International Language and Culture Studies

Arabic

Professor Farah Combs
Currently I am seeking students to work with me on community engagement. I need students who will research with me different paths we can involve the Arabic Program and its current students in the community in various ways throughout the Academic year. Students who will take part in this internship will not need to know Arabic, but might be working with IPFW students who are currently taking Beginners and Intermediate Arabic courses.